2. In the event of physical defects in the Product, occurring in the Warranty period specified in § 5, the Warrantor shall, at its own discretion, repair the Product, replace a defective Product for a Product free from defects, or return the entire or partial amount paid for the Product, subject to § 5 hereof. 3. The purchase date shall be the day when the original Purchaser pays to the seller/distributor the Product price and is given the Product. Where these actions are separate in time, the purchase date shall be the day when the Purchaser is given the Product ("Purchase Date").
4. In the event of change of the party entitled to use the thing where the Product is installed, the Warranty shall be transferred to the new party entitled to use the thing, in accordance with the provisions hereof, provided the new party entitled to use the thing provides the Warrantor with the documentation specified in § 4.4. hereof.

§ 3. Limitation of Warrantor's Liability

1. The Warrantor shall not be liable for physical defects or damage to the Product resulting from external factors that occurred after the Product was delivered to the original Purchaser (the Warrantor recommends insuring the Product subject to this Warranty against the effects of external factors), in particular related to:

§ 4. Obligations of the Warranty Holder

1. The Warranty Holder should notify the Warrantor in writing or by e-mail of the detected physical defects of the Product immediately after detecting a defect being ground for a claim under the Warranty.
2. Any claims made under the Warranty shall be lodged to the Warrantor through the seller from which the Product was purchased.
3. A claim made under the Warranty should include: description of defect, address of Product installation site, claimant's contact details (full name, address, phone number, e-mail address – if applicable) and, as far as possible, photographs proving the defect.
4. A claim made under the Warranty may be considered if it is submitted together with this document bearing the stamp and signature of the seller (distributor) of the Product, including the name of the seller as well as the place and date when the Product was sold, a certificate proving the right to use the thing (if the thing was transferred to another person by the original Purchaser), and a proof of purchase by the original Purchaser (if the Purchaser intends to use the rights under the Extended Warranty specified in § 5 hereof).
5. The Warrantor shall provide, by e-mail or in writing, the information on the manner of considering the claim no later than 14 days of the date when the Warrantor received the claim (if the information is provided in writing, the period shall be counted from the date when the letter is delivered to the Warrantor). The Warrantor stipulates that the consideration of the claim may require inspection of the Product on site, which implies the Purchaser's obligation to make available the thing where the Product covered by this Warranty is installed. In such event, the Warrantor shall contact the Purchaser forthwith in order to set the date of inspection, and the above-mentioned period of 14 days shall be counted from the date when the inspection is completed. The inspection shall be performed by an authorised representative of the Warrantor. The Purchaser shall provide the Warrantor with all information and documents necessary for proper preparation and performance of the inspection.
6. Where the Purchaser's claim is deemed justified, the Warrantor shall perform its obligations specified in §1 hereof within 60 days of the date when the Purchaser was provided with the information on the manner of considering the claim, specified in subclause 5. At the same time, the Warrantor stipulates that, due to the specific nature of the manufacturing process, the aforesaid period of 60 days may be extended by a time necessary to produce and deliver the elements necessary to replace the Product.
7. All parts and elements of the Product replaced hereunder shall become the Warrantor's property upon the day when they are replaced with other parts and elements.

§ 5. Warranty Period

1. This Warranty shall be valid for 2 years from the Purchase Date (i.e. the date when the Product is purchased by the original Purchaser) specified herein or in another document substantiating the purchase thereof.
